FAQs

Finding Your Check-In

Q: Where do I go in ADP to find my Quarterly Check-In?

A: Myself > Performance Dashboard (Under Talent)

Q: What's the difference between the "Myself" and "My Team" tabs?

A: The "Myself" tab is where you'll find your self-reflection form. The "My Team" tab is where you'll find your direct reports' reflection forms (as a manager).

Q: What should I do if I don't see a form for myself or one of my direct reports?

A: Please reach out to us at learningdevelopment@saga.org, and we'll be able to assist you.

Attaching & Rating Your Goals

Q: Do I have to attach goals, or will they appear automatically?

A: You will have to attach your goals to include them in your self-reflection. You may see team or org goals, but you should only attach the goals that you created.

Q: What if I don't see the option to manage my goals?

A: As you head into the goal section, you'll see "Actions" in the top right corner. Once you click on that dropdown menu, it'll give you the option to manage your goals there.

Q: What does it mean to "weigh" a goal?

A: Weighing a goal means assigning it a percentage value to show its relative importance compared to your other goals. All of your goals together should add up to 100%. For example, if one goal is more critical to your role, you might give it a higher weight (like 40%), while less central goals may carry a lower weight (like 20%).

Q: Can I adjust my goals or weights later if something changes?

A: While completing your check-in form, you can note if any of your goals need adjusting. Once you have your check-in conversation with your manager, you can go into ADP and update your goals (Myself > Performance Goals (Under Talent) > select the three-dot menu next to the goal you want to edit). You won't be able to reweigh your goals once you submit your check-in form, but you can adjust the weight during your next check-in.

Q: How do I rate a goal if it's still in progress?

A: Rate your goal based on the progress you've made so far, not just whether it's fully completed. For example, if you're making steady progress, you should rate your goal as on track. You can use the comment section to add any necessary context.

Writing Your Responses

Q: How detailed should my accomplishments and growth areas be?

A: Be specific enough to clearly show your progress and development, without listing every task. Aim for at least 2–3 sentences highlighting key outcomes and connecting to the competencies. The more detailed you are here, the easier it will be to pull from this section for your end-of-year evaluation.

Q: How do I connect my responses to my competencies?

A: Think about which competency your example best demonstrates and name it directly in your response. If you're unsure, refer to the Competency Examples by Role document. It provides high-level descriptions of how the competencies relate to your role and examples of what success looks like in practice.

General

Q: When are Quarterly Check-Ins due?

A: Self-reflections are due by 10/10. Managers (except for SDs) should complete reflections for their direct reports by 10/20.

Q: Who sees my completed form?

A: Your manager will see your completed form, so you both can view it during your 1:1 check-in conversation.

Q: Can I save my progress and return later?

A: Yes, you can save your progress and return during the completion window, but once you submit your form, you won't be able to reopen the form on your own. Please email us at learningdevelopment@saga.org if you need your form reopened.

Q: Will my Quarterly Check-In affect my end-of-year evaluation?

A: No, it will not. This is a time to reflect on your progress toward goals and priorities, celebrate wins and accomplishments, surface challenges, identify any support needed, and align on what's next for continued growth.
